

10 CORSO COMO

10 Corso Como Fragrance was launched in 1999, created by perfumer Olivier Gillotin.

The essence of rose and geranium are mixed together with vetyver, musk and sandalwood.
The core of this fragrance is a resin picked up from the tropical wood “oud-wood” which grows and lives in the Borneo forest.

This resin is so rare that it is sold in gram like gold and, in the eastern countries, it is burned like incense during cult ceremonies.

The Fragrance has developed into a whole line of products:

10 Corso Como fragrance eau de parfum 50 and 100 ml, solid perfume, bubble bath, body lotion and bath pearls.

In 2008 an incense and a group of four oils for the body have been launched:

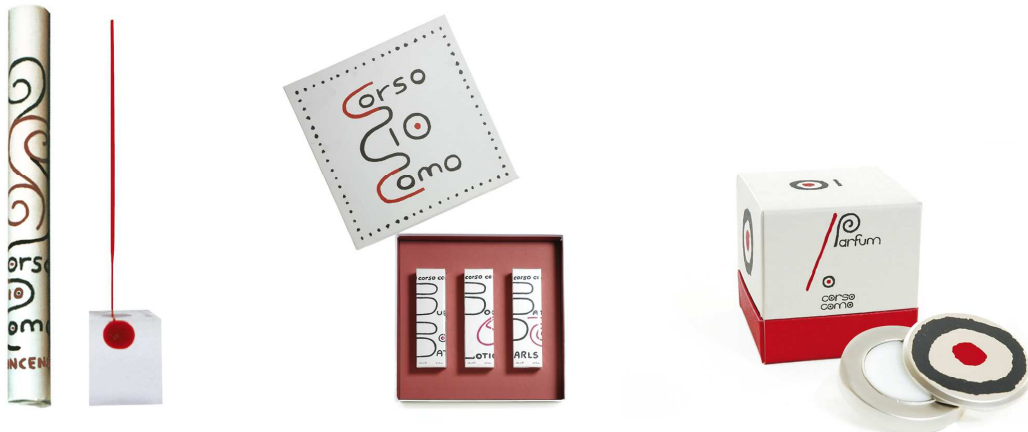

10 Corso Como massage oil, bath oil, shower oil, body oil, dry body oil.

Distribution is kept super niche and has generated a cult following from around the globe.
